Executive Summary

The report has been written with the intention of providing its reader a clear idea of how a Chartered Accountants firm deals with the concept of competitors analysis and human resource practices of Snehasish Mahmud & Co. (SMAC) Chartered Accountants is one of the rising Chartered Accountant firm in Bangladesh which provides various services like audit, taxation service, consultancy, recruitment sourcing and many more.

During the period of internships, I was supervised by Mr. Shawon Chandra Das, Executive Human Resource who have guided and instructed me what to do. I have gathered practical experience of how a chartered accountants firm deals with competitor analysis and HR practices under his supervision. The report is divided into three parts and four chapters. The first part of the report consists of formalities like the letter of transmittal and so on. The second part starts with an introduction, origin of the study, the purpose of the study, objectives of the study (broad and specific), methodology, and limitations of the report. The second chapter of this part of the report contains the profile of Snehasish Mahmud & Co. Chartered Accountants.

In chapter three, this report has analyzed the competitors and HR practices of SMAC. This analysis contains my experiences of doing an internship for three months in the firm. At last, I have mentioned the findings that I have detected from the analysis part. Finally, in the last part and chapter four, I have made conclusions and some recommendations.
Chapter 1:

Introduction
1.1: Introduction

This internship report is on “Competitors Analysis and Human Resource (HR) practices of Snehasish Mahmud & Co. (SMAC)” that is a CA firm specialized on providing tax, audit and consultancy services. The chartered accountant (CA) firm refers to a professional organization that offers services to its clients like assurance and audit, tax consultancy and tax management and other advisory services. The CA profession is recognized and respected profession across the world. The salary is also pretty high for a CA holder.

The number of CA firms in Bangladesh is about 155 and the number has been increasing over the periods. Therefore, the competition has become fiercer than past. Today, the firms are more service and clients oriented. They are trying to provide customized products and services so that they can build up reputation and increase the client base. As the economy of Bangladesh has been growing, the need of efficient tax management, assurance, cost accountancy, internal audit and other advisory services have been increasing for the company. As all the services are provided by the CA firms, the demand of CA professionals do increase. Besides, the per capita income is also increasing, therefore, the income tax return management and consultancy for doing so are also. All the events and forces have been driving the CA professional to the next level. The HR process of a CA firm is complex but interesting. A candidate is being selected through several stages. The stages range from

This internship report has enabled me to explore the dynamic field of profession of CA and its competition and HR practices. The HR practices enable the firm to operate efficiently and effectively. Actually the importance of HR practices is very severe as the people of the firm has to handle a diversified group of clients and their confidential matters like tax management or internal audit. Therefore, the employees of CA firm need to morally strong and committed to profession. This report basically provides an analysis of SMAC’s competitors and its HR processes.

Throughout of my internship period, I have been assigned to the practices of HR of Snehasish Mahmud & Co. I had to adhere to all the stages from recruitment to exit formalities. Besides, my supervisor, Shawon Chandra Das, Executive, Human Resource had keep me always by his side so that I can keep a close look to those stages and can get the real life experience. Apart from this my supervisor has provided me with information regarding how competition exists between them, how the firm is handling this kind of fierce competition and some strategies regarding this. Because of the confidentiality nature of those information I am presenting those issues confidentially in this report.
1.2: Origin of the Study
As per pre-requisite of BBA program, every student has to prepare and submit their internship report after finishing their academic education based on the practical experience gained from the internship. The same thing happened in my case. Luckily I have got chance to earn experience on competition and HR practices from a CA firm named Snehasish Mahmud & Co, a growing CA firm in Bangladesh (started its journey in 2013). From there, I gathered knowledge about the competitiveness in CA profession and dynamic HR practices. All those experiences have led me to prepare this report successfully under the supervision of Md. Kaium Hossain, Assistant Professor of United International University.

1.3 Purpose of the Study
The main purpose of the study of this report is to analyze competitors of SMAC and its human resource practices

1.4: Objectives of the Study
1.4.1: Broad Objective
The main objective of this report is to analyze the competitors and human resource (HR) practices of Snehasish Mahmud & Co. (SMAC).

1.4.2 Specific Objectives
There are five distinctive objectives of this report and they are-
To analyze the competitors of SMAC
To know the HR practices of SMAC
To know the departmental activities of SMAC
To know the strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats (SWOT) of SMAC
To make some recommendations on competitive situations of SMAC

1.5 Methodology of Data Collection
For completing the report with relevant data, the report has used both primary and secondary sources as methodology of data collection

1.5.1: Primary Sources
I have maintained direct contact with Executive, Shawon Chandra Das to collect information regarding human resource practices of SMAC. He has let me observe and get involved into all the stages of human resource practices. Besides, I have kept a close communication with Zareen Mahmud Hosein, CPA, FCA and Sukanta Bhattacharjee, FCA and they have helped me with providing information regarding the competitors and its competitive strategies. Both of them are founder partner of SMAC.

1.5.2 Secondary Sources
The secondary sources include data archive of SMAC and other several internal reports. Information also collected from several books, files and website of SMAC.

1.6 Limitations of the Study
The main objective of this report is to “analyze the competitors and human resource practices of Snehasish Mahmud & Co.” both of them are sensitive for a CA firm. Though the Executive of Human Resource have kept me close to its human resource practices and the fonder partners share their competitive strategies and competitors information, they were not sufficient because of the sensitiveness of the issues..

The time constraint is another factor that arises limitations for the report. Three months are not enough to know all the human resource practices and to analyze the competitors of a CA firm. So, there may be some practices of HR overlooked by me unintentionally.

Besides the code of conduct of profession, the firm did not authorize me to disclose some of the important but confidential information of the firm

In spite of those limitations, I have tried my best to make the report informative and concrete.
