For this reason I have tried to identify their staffing & as well as recruitment process. I work as an intern to get the best ideas. From the Internship experience I have found that in Intertek Bangladesh Ltd there is existence of a structured Human Resource department, having accurate Job Description and Specification. Departmental Heads & Directors handle the recruitment process. Finally, I tried to ensure that they are competing for the competition and they have a competitive advantage. For an example, Only those people will have to accept HR positions who have a sound knowledge of HR, they can differentiate their organization from the competitors by giving various types of benefits to their employees, Balanced Scorecard Process and Human Resource Planning, Staffing etc.

1 Introduction
Internship is the last integration part to end graduation. Through this process, opportunities for real education are created and all the extraordinary ideas are available. This is undoubtedly a challenging experience and which helps in building intellectual capacity and preparing internship reports as well. I got an opportunity to internship in Intertek Bangladesh Limited.

Intertek Bangladesh Limited is a leading total quality assurance provider for the global industry. This report is about the inspection, examination and certification (TIC) industry and how the industry manipulates their human resources and how they plan their employment strategies. For this reason, I have taken Intertek Bangladesh as a sample. Intertek is a leading service providers from Bangladesh. They have a separate HR department, so I would like to know how the application of HR functions, such as human resources planning and staffing strategies. For this reason I have tried to identify their recruitment process, and how they train their employees have tried to make sense of it. To get a good idea I have worked Intertek Bangladesh as an intern. From that experience, I have found that Intertek Bangladesh Limited has a disciplined HR department, the exact job description and specification available from there. Departmental Heads & Directors handle the recruitment process. Finally, I tried to ensure that they are competing for the competition and they have a competitive advantage. For an example, Only those people will have to accept HR positions who have a sound knowledge of HR, they can differentiate their organization from the competitors by giving various types of benefits to their employees, Balanced Scorecard Process and Human Resource Planning, Staffing etc.

I am very happy to have the opportunity to complete my professional training in HR department of Intertek Bangladesh Limited. My internship program is managed by Human Resources Division. The internship report will based on the Human Resource Planning & Staffing Policies of Intertek Bangladesh Ltd. I have started my internship 2nd January 2018 to 1st March 2018. During that period I willingly worked in that department and learned so many important things about HRM in practical situation and I also strongly build my professional manner on that period.

1.2 Problem Statement
This internship report mainly focused on the HR practices of Intertek Bangladesh Ltd. In addition to this, many problems were found along with some critical observations and hence recommendations to those problems were given.
1.3 Origin of the report
This report titled Human Resource Planning and Staffing Strategy of Intertek Bangladesh Ltd is prepared for fulfilling a partial requirement of both the BBA and the internship programs. Intertek Bangladesh Ltd is the host organization for the two or three month’s internship program which began on 2nd January 2018 to 1st March 2018. To prepare the report as an apprentice have taken necessary assistance from Musabbirul Alam who authorized me to prepare this report.

1.4 Objective of the report
✓ To analyze how the company incorporate efficiency of employees.
✓ Identify how the company projects job descriptions and job analysis for the large pool of applicants.
✓ To understand the staffing process of the company.
✓ Recommend solutions for the company’s potential threats and weaknesses along with suggestions that can help to improve the company’s performance.

1.5 Importance of the study
Large Industry setup requires a huge amount of capital. But Bangladesh is poor country. It is very difficult for a developing country like Bangladesh to finance large-scale industries. It is not easier to practice proper Human Resource & staffing strategy. We know Human Resource planning means lot of things is there. But in the developing country like Bangladesh any organization cannot afford or practice Human Resource & staffing strategy. But in the developed country like Japan, they can easily planning human resource & staffing process. On the other hand, we need insure the planning of Human Resource & Staffing Strategy. So we need to know proper way of Human Resource planning & Staffing Strategy and we should try to improve it the working place.

✓ To know their staffing system.
✓ To know the requirements of Intertek, through a Human Resource Planning Model.
✓ To know that, to what extent their company is behind from a Proper Human Resource Planning System.
1.6 Methodology

Although there are so many limitations, I will try to both the primary and secondary sources for the collection of information for the purpose of make the report presentable with as less abstraction as possible.

Sources of Data

All the required information were gathered at the source through informal interviews, careful observation, consultation of books, Intertek Bangladesh Ltd.’s internal circulars, its HR manual and office records. For this purpose the General Manager and some Executives has been interviewed. The major sources of information for study are as follows:

- Primary Data
  I. Interview with the Intertek’s Employees and Personnel.
  II. Observation.

- Secondary Data
  I. Reports and Documents of the Annual Reports, Brochures etc.
  II. Business and Trade Journals.
  III. Internet.

Methodology used for the Data Collection

A. Literature review: A wide range of literature is reviewed to gather information about these research topics. In this literature, the company profile, annual report, documentation, manuals, etc., including different.

B. Observation: Benchmark collecting information on different approaches and practices are conducted in a thorough and accurate observation.

C. Interview: Administration and other staff involved in the study and the data collected through interviews.

D. Lab visits: I went to Lab level activities to create necessary information and to improve research.

E. Discussion: Discussed with employees and other relevant people who are important for research as a planned tool and also took important instructions from project supervisors.
1.7 Limitation of the Study

I. Lack of support: As the employees of the Intertek Bangladesh Ltd are busy they might not provide me enough support. It is clearly understandable that they are a business organization not an educational institute. So, during their free time I will try my best to collect information from them.

II. Budged times for the study: Due to the time limit the scope and dimension of the study might be curtailed. Private industry is a big industry. It is very tough to deal with this industry within this short time. The respondents are scared with different places. Due to the short time it might not possible for me to do random sampling and conduct with the respondent by going everywhere.

III. Lack of records: Sufficient books, publications facts, and figures are not available. These constraints might narrow the scope of accurate analysis. If these limitations are not been there, the report will be more useful and attractive.

2 Human Resource Management

An organization’s operations are crucially dependent on its human resources, and how these are managed can have important impact on the Organization’s profile. Fundamental to the effectiveness of the enterprise are its human assets – the collective knowledge, understanding, competence, and expertise of staff—and how they are managed and motivated to apply this in the best interest of the organization.

Human resources management (HRM) refers to the management of people in an organizations. Include the activities, policies and practices involved in achieving, developing, using, evaluating, maintaining and maintaining a fair number of employees and a combination of skills for the purpose of an organization. The only goal of HRM is to maximize the contribution of employees to achieve optimum productivity and efficiency, as well as to achieve single goals and achieve social goals.

The objectives of HRM include

- Helping organizations get the right numbers and types of staff to meet its strategic and operational goals.
- Creates a climate in which employees are encouraged to develop and use their skills.
- Maintaining performance standards and helping to increase productivity through effective job design; Providing adequate orientation, training and development; Provide performance feedback; And effective two ways to ensure communication.
- Employer / Employee helps in establishing and maintaining relationships.
- Creating a safe and healthy working environment and help to maintain.
- Organize programs to meet the economic, psychological and social needs of workers.
- Helping the organization to hold producers or good employees.
- Ensuring that there is agreement with provincial / territorial and federal laws in the organization's workplace. Such as Human Rights, Employment Equity, Occupational Health and Safety, Employment Standards and Labor Relations Act.

Rather than mentioning organizational goals as separate and distinct from employees, they should be viewed as consistent and mutually coordinated. It happens when a win-win situation results
2.1 Human Resource Planning

Human Resource Planning is the planning of Human Resources. It is also called manpower planning/ personnel planning/ employment planning. It is only after Human Resource Planning that the Human Resource department can initiate the recruitment and selection process. Therefore Human Resource Planning is a sub-system of organizational planning.

Definition of HRP

1. “Human Resource Planning is a strategy for the acquisition, utilization, improvement and preservation of an organization’s human resource” – Y.C. Moushell

2. “Human Resource Planning is a process of forecasting an organization’s future demand for human resource and supply of right type of people in right numbers” – J.Chennly.K

Objectives of Human Resource Planning

1. Currently the best use of human resources employed by the organization.
2. To reduce the intolerance of distribution and distribution of manpower in the organization for various activities.
3. To ensure that manpower is equipped well with the necessary quantity and standard on a ground-based basis.
4. Guess the impact of technology on jobs and resources.
5. Organize, control, and maintain human resources costs.
6. Providing a foundation for management development programmers.
7. To ensure optimum contribution and satisfaction of staff with reasonable expenditures.

To recruit and retain human resource of required Quantity and Quality.

2.2 HR Planning and Strategic Staffing of Intertek Bangladesh Ltd.

Intertek is the 2nd largest testing service provider in Bangladesh where quality and on time delivery is their key to success. Even though, they are conquering their pillar of success by end of every well managed order delivery still they have to go a long way to achieve the No.1 title. The one & only issue for not having the No. 1 position in testing industry of Bangladesh is because Intertek has come to Bangladesh way after SGS arrived. By that time SGS has already developed a strong HR team and grabbed market share. Employee’s efforts, talents, knowledge and skills matter to organization. They are the key to their performance and survival. Whenever a company earns competitive advantage its company’s employees who create, enhance or implement the company’s competitive advantage. So everything begins with employees who come through accurate HR Planning and effective strategic staffing.

2.3 Human Resource Planning Process
Intertek Bangladesh Limited is running properly in the race course with plans. They think human resource planning can give them the perfect opportunity. Human resources planning involves getting the right number of correct workers right in the exact population. Through Human Resource Planning we can identify the number and types of employees needed to fulfill its purpose, to meet the commercial objectives for comparing the current status of the institution with its goal for the future of the organization and to achieve a competitive advantage, to identify changes in human resources to achieve that goal.

Human Resource planning is very important for any kind of organization because often there may long lag times to fill positions, often influences both turnover and productivity and the “demographic imperative” demands more such planning. There are methods used for appropriate human resource planning. They are:

- Expert opinions
- Delphi technique
- “Bottom-up” approach
- Quantitative (mathematical modeling)
- Regression analysis / Trend analysis

Human resource planning process comprises of forecasts of labor demand and forecast of labor supply. Both the forecasts of labor demand and labor supply entitled with forecast of labor surplus or shortage, goal setting and strategic planning last but not the least program implementation and evaluation.

Intertek Bangladesh Ltd must focus on HR planning process to gain competitive advantage and to become market leader. They need to work on strategically but not traditionally. Now they are only focusing on expert opinion, bottom-up approach and trend analysis. But it is time when they might think about quantitative methods and regression analysis as well.

2.4 Strategic Staffing Process
Effective staffing is the cornerstone of successful Human Resource Management. It lays the foundation for an organization’s future performance and survival. By definition, strategic staffing is the process of staffing an organization in future oriented, goal directed ways that support the business strategy of the organization and enhance its effectiveness. This involves the movement of people into, through and out of the organization. Staffing results will work firmly and determine who will represent, and how and how willing its employees will be able to. Staffing affects the future of training, performance management, and compensation programs, as well as the ability to run business in business.

Intertek Bangladesh Limited is strategically running their staffing process. As I differ from strategic staff I know the traditional staffing: Less tied to traditional stuffing techniques, more responsive and lacking more likely and continuous improvement efforts in response to an opening reaction. Strategic staffing system which include: long-term planning, strong alignment with business strategy, HR alignment with other areas, alignment with the labor market, targeting recruitment, job functions related to the success and long-term potential of the sound to determine a candidate, pre-identified targets against the staff reviewed the results.

2.5 Components of Strategic Staffing
There are seven components of strategic staffing activities that, Intertek Bangladesh Ltd does well strategically, and hence it can create a staffing system that supports business strategy and organizational performance. The seven activities are:
Workforce Planning

Intertek Bangladesh Ltd. goes for workforce planning which is basically a process of predicting an organization’s future employment needs and the availability of current employees and external hires to meet those employment needs and execute the organization’s business strategy. Generally it involves both the employer's manager and an employee specialist, a short-term and a focus on immediate recruitment needs, may be long-term and focus on future needs of the organization. Workboard planning is strategically better suited to both its firm's short and long term needs.

2.5.2 Sourcing Talent

Sourcing talent is another component Intertek Bangladesh focuses on which is of locating qualified individuals and labor markets from which to recruit. It is an important component of staffing strategy. Sourcing identifies people who would be good recruits.
2.5.3 Recruiting Talent
Intertek Bangladesh Ltd is mostly dealing with lower level employees where their primary focus is to get proper manpower for primary activities. But now they think about recruiting professionals to have best managerial practice and proper marketing. To do that if they think about recruiting which refers to all organizational practices and decisions that affect either the number or types of individuals willing to apply for jobs and accept job offers. Recruiting activities entice them to apply to the organization and accept job offers, if extended. Employer branding is a component of recruiting, of creating a favorable image in desired applicant’s minds about the organization being a good place for them to work with.

2.5.4 Selecting Talent
Selecting talent is assessing job candidates and deciding whom to hire. The method is implied by Intertek Bangladesh Ltd to assess and select job candidates which will determine how well the firm’s new hires and thus the company as a whole will perform.

2.5.5 Acquiring Talent
Intertek Bangladesh Limited is thinking of acquiring the talent that appeals to selected candidates to work together and accepts job offers and attempts to get the offer of job seekers to join the organization. Discussion usually results in employment contract.

2.5.6 Deploying and retaining talent
Organized in deployment leads to the option of succession planning and career development deployments are included in competent talent and role of competent job and role. Socialization is the introduction of new employed and publicized employees to their jobs, work groups and organizations. Effective tools for the development of succession management and career. High turnover turnover can be expensive. Less staff turnover can be beneficial. Retention those who opt out to replace them for recruitment and recruitment money savings. Both the policies were adopted by Intertek Bangladesh.
2.6 Matchmaking Process
Recruitment and selection are interdependent, bilateral mechanisms that both the employer and the employer can learn as much about their potential compatibility, the more they try to learn. Applicants and organizations prefer each other. Until the job offer is accepted until the expiry of the job, the recruitment process for the job will continue until the job is completed. Some companies constantly "recruit" employees and increase defense for maintaining their attractiveness as an employer.

2.7 Goals of Strategic Staffing
There are some goals to have strategic staffing. Before implying that, Intertek Bangladesh Ltd scrutinize the importance of pulling it. Creating hiring goals that are clearly linked to organizational strategies and objectives guides the strategic process. Process goals relate to the hiring process itself, including how many of what quality applicants apply, attracting appropriate numbers of diverse applicants and meeting hiring timeline goals such as completing interviews within two weeks and making job offers within one week of the final interview. On the other hand, outcome goals apply to the product of the hiring effort and including the number and quality of people hired the financial return on the staffing investment and whether the staffing effort improved organizational effectiveness. The general goals of Strategic Staffing are given below:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Process Goals</th>
<th>Outcome Goals</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>✓ Attract sufficient numbers of qualified applicants</td>
<td>✓ Attract sufficient numbers of qualified applicants</td>

</tr>

<td>✓ Fulfilling any affirmative actions</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
Stuffing goals should be linked to the improvement of the staffing system's strategic performance. The basic stagging goals meet the needs and needs of the organizations and their job skills, styles, values and features. In this regard, Intertek Bangladesh Limited considers them to be compulsory for strictly qualified candidates, reduce their staff efficiency, torneve rate, meet the needs of holding holders, increase financial return, etc. The strategic staff goes further and makes the organization better, its business strategy and its business goals. Staffing goals should be consistent with the goals and requirements of all stakeholders, including workers’ employees, including those of the applicant and employer employers. To my suggestion when Intertek Bangladesh Ltd sets their goal they should consider these following questions:

- Is it more important to fill it quickly or to fill it with someone who is closely related to a particular talent profile?
- What level of strategy, style, values, and features really requires success and runs a business strategy?
- What is the business strategy and what kind of people will need?
- How will the new titles change instead of training for development?
- What is the long-term talent of the organization? Is it important for a person who has the potential to take the role of future leadership?

2.8 Integrating the Functional Areas of Human Resource Management
To laying the foundation for a firm’s strategic execution, staffing impacts the effectiveness of the other human resource management practices within the firm. Intertek Bangladesh Ltd. goes for integration because the various functional areas of human resource management like staffing, training, performance management and compensation interacts with each other, getting enough people with the right qualifications and competencies to apply for jobs with the organization in the first place will impact these functions. Other human resource functions that are affected by the firm are staffing system:

- Training,
- Compensation
- Performance Management
- Career Development and Succession Planning
2.9 HR Planning Analysis

2.9.1 Forecasting Demand

Product / Service Demand

Product or service demand is the organization’s internal consideration based on which it simply design its human resource planning strategy. It refers to the want of particular products that are shaped by one’s society and are described in terms of objects that satisfy needs, when backed by buying power, wants become demand. Therefore it helps measure the potential market for a particular product/service.
Technology
Technology refers to the explosive advances and exciting ways to learn about customers and to create tailored products; it also refers to the development of original products, product improvements, product modifications, and new brands through the firm’s own research and development efforts.

Financial Resources
Before forecasting demand the organization should also determine the financial resources the organization has its own. Financial resources are in the form of capital and equity’s. It includes the building, land, and current condition of stock’s price, debt securities, solvency and the ability to cope with the marketability of the organization as well as liquidity ability of the organization. Financial resources can significantly affect an organization’s competitive advantage.

Absenteeism/Turnover
Absenteeism refers to the failure of employees to report to work when their schedules require it, whether or not such failure to report is excused. Whereas, scheduled vacations, holidays, and prearranged leaves of absence are not counted as job absence.

Organizational Growth
Organizational growth is something for which all organizations desire in order to strive and to prosper. The ultimate goal of most companies is profit, net profit, revenue, and other financial data, sales figures, number of employees, physical expansion, or other criteria to judge organizational growth are often utilized as "bottom-line" indications of growth.

Management Philosophy
Management philosophy refers to a system of principles that describe attitudes of managers toward their responsibilities to the enterprise and it stakeholders.

2.9.2 Forecasting Supply
Demographic Changes
Demographic changes refer to the statistical characteristics of human populations, such as age and income that are used by businesses to identify markets for their products by determining just who their potential customers are and to serve as a means of locating geographic areas where the largest number of potential customers live. It is important to identify the changing needs in the marketplace and adjust to them.

Education of the Workforce
Education is a social science that encompasses teaching and learning specific skills and when it comes to workforce it is very much necessary to hire an employee with the right educational background.

Labor Mobility
Labor mobility refers to the availability and transportation of labor from the available source to required source

Government Policy
Government policies refer to the rules and regulations of a nation that restricts or permits the activities of organization. Government regulations make great impacts on an organization. Government policies can also limit or prevent new competitors from entering industries through licensing requirements; limits on access to raw materials etc.

Unemployment Rate
The unemployment rate is the number of unemployed workers divided by the total civilian labor force, which includes both the unemployed and those with jobs (all those willing and able to work for pay).

Balancing demand and supply
As soon as Intertek starts with the manpower for next 4 or 5 years where each department will have to fix their yearly manpower requirement, it will be feasible for HR department to project each department’s yearly manpower requirement along with the required skill. For this HR will proactively work upon sourcing the candidates through taking prior interviews written exams and frequently coordinate with department’s requirement.
2.10 Staffing Process Map

Intertek Bangladesh Ltd more or less follow a similar form of external recruitment system. However, there are internal recruitment systems as well. Under the standard recruitment process of talent acquisition, companies hire employees from external means. These external sources can be agencies, advertisements, academic institutions, and so on. A typical method for external recruitment is as follows:
This industry in Bangladesh is not enough attractive and profitable for investment or join for building up career; though it has plenty of potential and chances to grow with its resources. But unfortunately the absence of suitable environment and many other business factors are the obstacles on the way for TIC industry to success. Intertek Bangladesh Ltd is a growing organization providing testing services and it has does not have lack of interaction with Human Resource practices. In service industry the human resource or human power is playing the vital role and the tools or HR should be fully applied here. In Intertek Bangladesh Ltd, they have a lot of knowledge of HR and below are some of the current practices of the company.

2.10.1 Assessing Internal Candidates

Internal Assessment is the evaluation of a firm’s current employees for training, reassignment, promotion or dismissal purposes. For ensuring Intertek’s success, they evaluate which employees skills are needed to execute their business strategies and evaluating their employees if they have these skills and create development opportunities” for them. The Internal assessment goals are like this:

- Maximize fit
- Accurate assessment
- Maximize return on investment
- Positive shareholder reactions
- Establish and reinforce employer image
- Identify employees” development needs
- Assessing ethically
- Legal compliance

I can say Intertek Bangladesh Ltd strictly follow the legal issues. Laboratories are located in multi-storied building around Bangladesh including Dhaka and Chittagong. Working conditions in Bangladesh are good and meets the western standards. On a par with other local testing service providers, laboratories are often dimly lit, with poor ventilation, and open for very long hours. However, Intertek Bangladesh Ltd laboratories operate with good lighting and are not overly hot or crowded. The workers, both male and female, work with a break during their shift. Seldom are the laboratories doors locked. Guards with key cards stand by the locked gate. Overtime hours occur during peak periods in the production cycle when manufacturers are rushing to fulfill their export quotas. Then I can easily make a conclusion that Intertek Bangladesh Ltd follows some of them if market share and shareholder relationship and market growth of last five year are considered then it can be said that they are doing a great job.

2.10.2 Existing Internal Assessment Methods

Skills inventories

Strategic HR planning is important for the success of any organization. It involves human resources needs and availability analysis to meet the organization's goals and objectives. Creating and Maintaining an Efficiency List These attributes can help HR a skill list, a compilation of current employees' skills, education and experience. In order to promote mid-level employees of Intertek Bangladesh Limited, organizations evaluate their skills to meet the specific goals of the company.

- Academic credentials
- Specializations in specific skill areas
- Employment experience by industry and position
- Acquired licenses and certifications
- Prior training and education classes

2.10.3 Multi-source assessment

It is popularly referred to as 360 degree evaluation, being adopted by organizations at a dynamic rate. Internship at Intertek Bangladesh Ltd

- Specific responsibilities of the job
4 Internship at Intertek Bangladesh Ltd.

I have got the opportunity to work in Intertek Bangladesh Ltd. As an intern for two months from 2nd January to 1st March, 2018, it’s a part of my academic program. As my major is Human Resource Management, I worked in Human resource department as an intern where I had learnt several Human Resource practices of Intertek Bangladesh Ltd.

4.1 Description of the job

I had the opportunity of internship for two months in Intertek Bangladesh Limited. I have come up with various tasks which are managed by the HR department. I introduced to the work of an HR staff, there were different types of jobs that I knew were regularly regular. The following things I had been appointed regularly were:

- Collecting Bio data
- Screening Bio data
- Setting Interview & training date
- Calling For Interview
- Making Interview Lists
- Creating Employee Profile
- Data Entry in different HR Forms

Collecting Bio Data

In the month of January Intertek went through lots of recruitment and selection process. There were about 62 vacant positions which needed to be filled. So among the many CVs which were stored in the CV bank of BD jobs.com I had to download the CVs” of the qualified candidates from among them.

As I have worked mostly in the recruitment Associates, it was my job to call the outlets and ask them to send the CVs to Human Resource Department. And also ask the Office Assistant to collect the CVs from the CV box.
Screening Bio data

I was receiving a large number of employees, we got a lot of CV. While screening CVs there were some areas considered, this was age, education and location. For example, applicants must be 18 years of age or older to apply for work. Candidates for Associates and Responsible Positions must be a graduate student and must be smart candidates for executive positions. Store Assistant Candidate must have SSC degree.

Setting Interview date

After the CV scans and classified them in different classes, I would fix the date of interview for different branches and inform the people about the related resources of the interview. And after giving the interview, I had just completed the training date for the selected candidates. To do this, I had to find out the empty slots for training batch and training in the training journal, and decided to finalize the staff interview and training batch, talking to everyone.

Calling for Interview

After screening CVs and separating them based on their location, candidates were called for interviews and my job was to tell them about the date, time and place of the interview. The interview was held in the HR Department of InterContact Bangladesh Limited. After the interview, the selected candidates will have to call.

Making Interview Lists

When calling the candidates, I have to give serial number to their CV. After the call to the candidate, it was a job to create an interview list, which left the column for the applicant's name, father's name, applicant's name, educational qualification, address and contact number, applicant's signature, selected, selected and commentary. The following was discussed in the list of Human Resource Officers and Managers of the concerned department.
Creating Employee Profile

HR Department of Intertek Bangladesh Limited keeps records of their manual and HRMS. After the recruitment, each new employee recruits an ID for their identification. Employee file consists of Interkec Bangladesh Limited, Employee CV, Photocopy of Employee's Educational Certificate, and the letter of reference letter attached to the employee.

Data Entry in different HR Forms

In January, employees’ leave forms were revised and I had to make entries of the number of leave each employees took over the last year.

Employee Joining

When a new employee joins I performed all tasks for joining. The tasks include all necessary signatures and filling.

4.2 Specific responsibilities of the job

Call and schedule confirmation for assessment session: As mentioned earlier I had to call the shortlisted candidates and let them about about the place, date and time of their assessment session.

Ensure Candidate Attendance in the exams and assessment session: One of my responsibility was to check whether all the candidates who were shortlisted appeared for the exam or not. If they didn’t appear I had to call them back and know what their problem was and if possible then reschedule their exam date.

Data Entry in different HR databases: Performance appraisal of the employees” were also done during my stay in Intertek. So I had to make entries of the result of employees in computer database.

5.2 Findings of the Study

Co-relation between recruitment and turnover: Recently there has been a significant increase in the upside rates compared to last year. There is always a relationship between the recruitment and turnover rate among all organizations. To deal with this, the recruitment process needs to be corrected. Candidates will have to go through more stringent testing to solve this problem and they will be appointed before and after selecting Interak. Candidates will be interested in interviews and interviews to know about the possibility of having them at Intertek.

Recruitment and Selection policy: This organization selects their employees strictly based on his/her merit, potentiality and capabilities. I think there is lacking of proper staffing—that means “lack of right place”. So the main problem is found, lack of ideal recruitment and selection program.

Training and Development policy: The development policies of the company's employees are not suitable. Employee training and orientation are often not operated on the basis of company. As a result, employees can not fail to communicate with customers properly and that need to be changed very quickly.

Table 5.14 : How would you rate the HR department’s performance in HR Audit & Planning Process?
More involvement of sales managers required in the recruitment process of sales team: The recruitment process seems to be more involved in more HR departments. HR departments are certainly professional about matter. However, the sales department has the qualities needed for the job and there are good ideas about those qualities. They are more able to identify the good prospects of the candidates. Therefore sales manager's recruitment process should be more involved. Although the HR department acts as a processor in the process.

Gives ad in net only: One goal of recruitment is to create a pool of candidates. However, the candidates need to be qualified. The more qualified candidates there are available, the more probability there is that the recruitment will be a success. Intertek mainly advertises job vacancies over the net. But the more prominent media used by the applicants is the newspaper. It is true that more technology oriented people use net. But they do not necessarily use it to find jobs. So Intertek should use campus recruitment and job fair more often.

Theft by workers: In Intertek, the workers in the laboratories as well as those who works in the office have to work with clothes, shoes etc. Even though the rules and conditions of Intertek is very strict, however there has been incident of product theft by workers. It is a very shameful act and hence the compliance manager over there should set very strict rules regarding these kinds of actions.

Less focus on the promotional activities: The industry where Intertek stands are competitive enough and getting more and more competitive day by day due to different factors of cost benefits, standard compliances and upgrading and so on. To compete against the strong competitors promoting the company and the offered services are very much required for Intertek. But they do not focus on their promotional and marketing activities that much.

Job Analysis policy: The job analysis program is not standard as well as the manager of human resource Department is not capable of apply the various HRM functions.

Recommendation & Conclusion

6 Recommendation

Recruitment and Selection: The Company should take only those people who have a sound knowledge of HR Planning & staffing strategy. The designated person will be responsible for developing the HR Management as well as develop the staffing procedure which will ensure the Strategic Staffing in Intertek Bangladesh Ltd.

It is found in the majority of companies in Bangladesh that in most firms the people who are performing the HR activities are not having a sound knowledge or a degree on HR. These people are found to have completed their bachelor degree in other fields like Engineering, Marketing, etc.

Therefore, I recommend that they when hiring people to work on HR, they must make sure that the person has a very extensive knowledge on HR, a degree or a MBA with major in HR will serve as an added advantage for the organization. They should avoid this thinking that HR is a simple task to do and they according to the growing need of HRM activities, it is their responsibility to hire appropriate people for it. If they think that it is not possible for them to identify the talents required for this field, then they may go for some external consultants/sources in the country who can help them in the talent acquisition process by charging certain amount of fees. They can hire some students from some reputed universities
Well, the justification behind the recommendation is that when they will have these HR experts in their organization they will be able to retain the high performing employees in the organization, there will be continuous improvement in the performance of the employees, as loyalty will be created between the employees and the employer, they will be able to have good industrial relations, improved compensation system and there are other areas which are due to improve with progressing time.

To formulate an ideal recruitment and selection policy: Recruitment and selection is the most important part of HR department so they should be more careful about the Recruitment and Selection policy.

To formulate an effective training and development policy: Regular training may be arranged for officers and HR officers in order to ensure the smooth operations of the company and to get the desired momentum in day to day work. An annual budget may be allotted for training purpose.

To conduct proper job analysis program: The top management should conduct proper job analysis for having better output.

To conduct standard performance appraisal program: HRM should follow accurate performance appraisal, otherwise, company might be fall in problem due to unfair standard performance appraisal.

Performance Appraisal Method: Performance appraisal form should not same for all employees. It should be according to department, task, nature of job and responsibilities.

Discussing Problem: Discussing problem is good practice so it should continue to improve employee’s performance as well for creates good working environment.

To formulate standard human resource planning policy: The Company should set a standard human resource planning for its betterment.

Working Policy: As we already find out that some employees are overburden by work so it should be reduce by formulating a rule that everyone have to do their own work no one can force another to do his work.
Promotion: Organization should upgrade employee’s position as per company rules and regulation. No other reason can make their promotion delay.

Job Security: Management should ensure the job security. So that employees can give best output and work without any kind of tension

Employees Benefits: They can differentiate their organization from the competitors by giving various types of benefits to their employees. Here, the company gives some benefits to the employees, but the benefits are very common and are very few in numbers. The benefits are not attractive enough comparing to the other industries. They should introduce a wide range of benefits like pension schemes, insurance programs, loans for housing, car, etc.

Balanced Scorecard Process: The balanced scorecard model recognizes the importance of both real and invaluable resources and financial and non-financial measures. The leading indicators are unique indicators for each firm. Balanced scorecard depends not only on the financial results, but also the importance of measuring business performance from the point of view of strategic implementation. By mentioning important process measures, measuring them, and contacting the firm's performance based on this criteria of the staff, managers can ensure that the whole agency actively participates in the strategic implementation process.

Training and Development: In the current situation, there is no institution in fact to train the workers of Bangladesh so that they can improve their skills and provide better jobs. There should be more institutes in Bangladesh, where students get proper training. For example, if an engineer does not use any work, he will not be able to meet anyone in a garment factory, do not handle the equipment. Therefore, practical knowledge and vocational training for workplace are very important. "Employees need to be regularly trained, educated and updated, this is the responsibility of the HR department, for a quality productivity industry, the owner needs to invest the necessary resources and money for such training program."
7 Conclusion

It was a perfect experience of the activities of Intertek Bangladesh Limited. Friendly welcome from staff and trainee / trainer who made the place has learned to learn and learn as a worker. This experience brought my strength to the area and I needed to improve. In my professional perspective it has added more confidence, has created a strong positive attitude and taught about how to work in the group as a player. The primary purpose of an internship is to acquire their theoretical knowledge into a real-life work experience collection and practice. I am grateful to the entire team of the hotel HR for their extraordinary support for making my work experience truly rewarding. Especially in this section, I have learned about my skills and level of human resources. After the expiration of this internship, I learned about the importance of HR Manager, Training Executive, HR Senior Supervisor and HR senior assistant role about human resources.

Intertek Bangladesh Ltd should go for building a Human Resource department to handle the workforce employed in the organization and also to keep track of the employees working. Although Intertek Bangladesh is working well on their field of expertise they still need to focus on their workforce and comply with the recommendation and should implement those as they thrive towards the future.

From the above discussion it can conclude such a way that since human resource planning & staffing strategy is a continuously practicing issue so it plays a significant role on organizations overall performance. If an organization wants to gain full benefit from human resource management it should follow all the sections of HRM. I think if Intertek Bangladesh Ltd adopts some new policy regarding compensating employees, recruitment and selection on the basis of salary survey and job analysis, we hope Intertek Bangladesh can be a market dominant and have skill employee for higher productivity to meet millennium goal.

Hence, I can sum up by saying that my internship experience was a milestone to my academic and professional experience. I thoroughly enjoyed the challenges that came along every single day. I could also bring some minor improvisations during my internship which were able to leave their marks. These lessons that I have learned will be a valuable one for my future endeavors as well.
